eCore
KSU offers traditional online courses as well as another option of online courses called “eCore”. eCore, the University System of Georgia’s online general education "core" curriculum, was established as part of the Complete College Georgia initiative which focuses on making college more accessible and affordable.
- eCore offers courses in General Education Areas A-E
- Open Educational Resources (OER) are digital textbooks available inside eCore courses at no cost to the student.
- Courses are taught by instructors from SACSCOC accredited USG institutions.
- Course credits earned through eCore are transferable within the USG and to most other colleges and universities.
- Before you can register for an eCore course in Owl Express, you must first successfully complete the eCore Orientation.

Netiquette
The term netiquette is commonly used in reference to popular forms of online communication, including email, forums and chat.
It is derived from “Network and Etiquette”, and “Internet and Etiquette”. It is the set of social conventions that guides interaction over networks.

University Information Technology Services
UITS can provide support with campus applications and services such as Owl Express, KSU WiFi, and Desire2Learn (D2L). If your computer is running slowly or experiencing pop-ups, they can also offer advice on malware removal and ensuring your PC has the most current updates from Apple or Microsoft. Students can receive support in the following areas: KSU ID, NetID, e-mail account, Owl Express, WiFi connection, D2L Brightspace, and UITS workshops.

Writing Center
The Online KSU Writing Center provides one-on-one, process-focused writing instruction in two formats: synchronous and asynchronous writing sessions.
"Live Feedback" is a synchronous (real-time) tutoring option with an audio and visual feed, a live chat box, and a white board that students and their writing assistants can use to interact in real time.

The asynchronous tutoring option, called "Written Feedback" allows students to upload assignment guidelines and drafts to receive written feedback from a writing assistant within 24 hours of their scheduled appointment.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA)
FERPA, as amended, is a federal law that sets forth requirements regarding the privacy of student records. FERPA governs the disclosure of student records maintained by an educational institution as well as access to those records.

FERPA applies to all students who attend post-secondary institutions. Students enrolled in any courses offered by KSU, at any location or through any method of delivery (i.e., campus/on-site, hybrid, partially online and fully online) are covered by FERPA. KSU considers an admitted student to be in attendance upon enrollment/registration for classes. Institutions that receive funds administered by the Federal Office of Education are bound by FERPA requirements, and failure to comply may result in the loss of federal funding.
